New site for the Foresight Centre

The Foresight Centre (opens new window), the award-winning business conference centre of the University of Liverpool and one of our long-standing customers, recently awarded us the contract to undertake a website redesign.

Our designers are working on an elegant, modern, and sophisticated look, to fit with the location and facilities offered by the Foresight Centre. A key priority of the website will be target information to the website audience, enabling them to locate and, more importantly, action services offered by The Foresight Centre, including room booking and Hub membership.

We'll be implementing an easy to use content management system, allowing Foresight Centre personnel to take more control of their site content.
